GIORGIO - Do you believe Quality Team should manage Inspections during the manufacturing phase instead of leaving them with the Procurement Team? (1/2)

No, the Quality Team should be kept informed of the progress and only support Procurement if quality issues arise

No, The Quality Team is not always skilled to manage manufacturing phases (i.e. external inspectors have to be hired, so leave it with Procurement)

0 %

Yes and the Quality Team should have/develop internal skills because Inspection is a quality related activity

GIORGIO - Do you believe Quality Team should manage Inspections during the manufacturing phase instead of leaving them with the Procurement Team? (2/2)

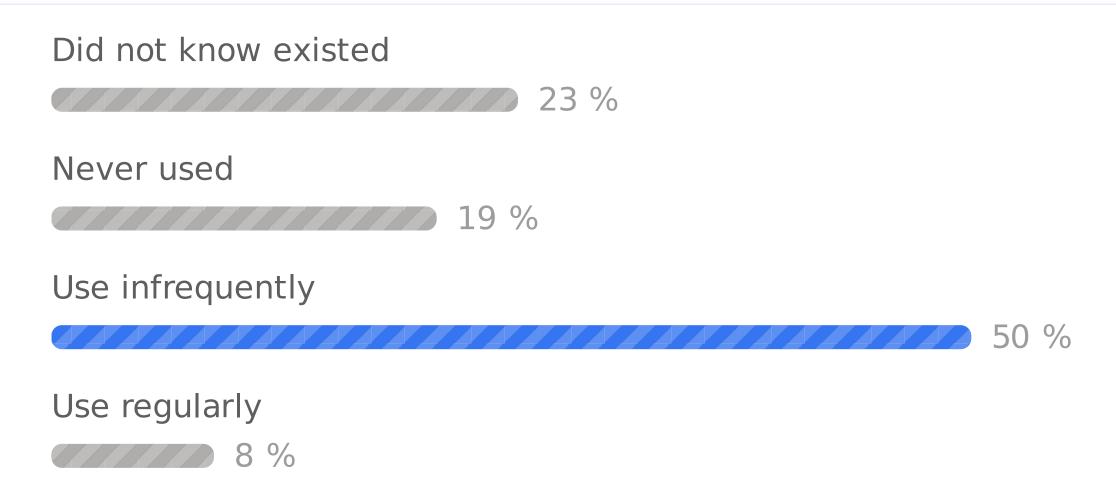

Yes, but the management of the resources for inspections should remain under Procurement (bureaucratic stuff) while the reporting line should be with the Quality Team
